

Principles for Sharing Cities

Tom Llewellyn

Strategic Partnerships Director

www.shareable.net

@ShareableTom

SHaReaBLE

The background is a detailed, colorful illustration of a city street. In the foreground, a large, diverse crowd of people is depicted in a stylized, almost caricature-like manner. Some individuals are holding signs, one of which says "I ♥ SF". There are also various objects like a large eye, a green alien-like creature, and a yellow character. The middle ground shows a street with buildings, a bus, and a yellow bird. The background features a bay with a bridge, hills, and a dome-shaped building. The overall style is vibrant and artistic.

The Rise of Sharing Cities

Sharing Cities: ACTIVATING the URBAN COMMONS

Principles Provide the Context on which Everything Else is Built

Sharing Cities are Aspirational

Transformation over Transaction

“A person is a person through other persons”
(Desmond Tutu)

Replication, not just Scale

ASHEVILLE
TOOL
LIBRARY

Not dependent on the success or failure of a single monopolistic corporation.

Private Sufficiency, Civic Abundance

“Magnificent public amenities create more space for everyone, at a fraction of the cost.” (George Monbiot)

Local Control, Global Cooperation

“Cosmo-localization” (José Ramos)

Solidarity

Community is the heroic protagonist in urban transformation.

3 Challenges:

- Celebrate and elevate what is already working
- Replicate projects and city policies that are proven solutions
- Prioritize the challenges of our time (not just those of convenience or market domination)

The Solution is Us

Get your print copy (or free pdf)
of “Sharing Cities” today!
www.shareable.net/sharing-cities

Tom@shareable.net
@ShareableTom
www.shareable.net